Commencement Day Activities Set

Activities on commencement day include guided tours of University buildings and construction sites, an open-air anniversary meeting, showings of the new University film, and the conferring of degrees.

Beginning at 9 a.m. and lasting until 2 p.m. a tram seating 21 persons will make 20-minute campus tours of construction sites and other points of interest. Offered at the same time will be other guided tours of campus buildings, complete with exhibits and demonstrations.

The new film depicting University development will be shown every hour in Burden Hall.

In a special open-air anniversary convocation at 2 p.m. the administration building will be officially named The Percy T. Magan Hall in memory of the pioneer who was president of

Teachers Assigned To Lebanon Posts

The University will send two teachers to Middle East College this year under the terms of an affiliation agreement. Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Bull from La Sierra College will leave July 1 to represent the University at the college in Beirut, Lebanon, for a two-year term.

Middle East College, which has an enrollment of 200 students, first proposed the idea of affiliation to the University, whose trustees studied the idea last summer. Trustees approved the idea in principle and authorized a trip to the Beirut college by President Anderson. Following his inspection trip in October, Dr. Anderson recommended approval of the plan to the Trustees, and the official announcement of the affiliation came in November.

According to the agreement, the University will counsel with Middle East College on academic matters and will validate its degrees, thus supporting the college academically, but not financially.

Therapists Appear On TV Program

Therapists and children from the cerebral palsy children's facility on the Loma Linda campus will be on television this weekend.

They will appear on a 19-hour telethon produced for the benefit of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. The telecast, originating in Los Angeles, begins at 11 p.m. Saturday over KHJ-TV, Channel 9.

Three children — Sheryl Arias, Stanley Mead, and Jimmy Sidener — are featured in the interview-demonstration with popular singing star Pat Boone. In charge of demonstrations showing how children are helped at the facility here are LLU physical therapists Charlotte Holmes, PT '61; Howard Sulzle, PT '63; and John D. Wheaton, PT '47.

BULLETIN

All seniors in the School of Medicine who took the National Board Examinations, Part II, have passed, according to late information received by University SCOPE.

A. W. Spoo Named Foundation Head

A. W. Spoo, business manager at Walla Walla College, will become the manager of the Loma Linda Foundation July 1. In his new post he also will hold the titles of vice president and treasurer of the corporation.

Mr. Spoo replaces John C. Shull who is retiring. A future issue of University SCOPE will report on Mr. Shull's years of service to the University.

Mr. Spoo received the Bachelor of Science degree in business administration in 1949 while assistant treasurer of the Oregon Conference. He was appointed to his present position in 1952.

In Walla Walla he is a member of the Chamber of Commerce board, the Kiwanis Club, and is an elder in the College Church of Seventh-day Advent-

Dr. Kulstad Voted Society President

Hugo M. Kulstad, DDS, associate professor of pedodontics, was named president of the Southern California State Dental Association at the 68th annual scientific meeting last week in Los Angeles.

Dr. Kulstad, a resident of Bakersfield, is also a member of the California State Advisory Council on Atomic Energy Development and Radiation Protection.

A graduate of the University of Southern California, he has been on the Loma Linda University School of Dentistry faculty since 1956.

Sixtieth Anniversary Event

Review Editor to Recall History of Founding

In another highlight of the sixtieth anniversary observances Francis D. Nichol will examine the historical and providential aspects of events which led to the University's founding in a Founders' Day convocation May 26. The program, the fifth in a series of celebrations, begins at 7:30 p.m. in the University Church.

News Film Produced About University

A new film report on progress at Loma Linda has been produced and is now available for free showing by church, alumni, and community groups, according to Jerry Wiley, director of news publications.

Entitled, "Dateline: Loma Linda University," the film is a fast-moving documentary with a newsreel touch showing scenes of construction activity; student-faculty operation of sophisticated new scientific, computation, and teaching instruments; and University officials in real-life planning sessions. Student missions service is also portrayed.

In keeping with the newsreel approach, the film has been produced in black and white. Its length is approximately 13 minutes, making it suitable for television programming as well as group viewing. The film's short length also makes it appropriate for inclusion as a supplementary feature in a larger program or meeting, Mr. Wiley points out.

The film may be booked by contacting the University relations office.

University Photos Receive Awards

Photographs by Loma Linda University personnel took first place in four of five contest categories at a church public relations convention in Atlantic City this month.

Winning entries for the University were by Robert A. Kreuzinger of Audiovisual Service, John Parrish, director of public information, and Ellis R. Rich, associate director of Audiovisual Service. Mr. Rich was winner of two of the awards. He recently received his master's degree in audiovisual education at the University of Southern California.

The four winning photos were all developed and printed at Audiovisual Service in Loma Linda.

Mr. Nichol

Mr. Nichol is editor of the Review and Herald, the official organ of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

His interest in Loma Linda University is not new, for he came to live in the community with his parents in 1905 when he was eight years old. Born in New South Wales, Australia, he was educated in California schools. He received his Bachelor of Theology degree from Pacific Union College in 1920. Andrews University in 1958 conferred on him the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

Though he has served the church in a pastoral capacity, the greater portion of his career has been devoted to editorial work with several church publications. He formerly was associate editor of the Signs of the Times and of the Review and Herald, and was editor of Life and Health and of Present Truth. He has held his present position since 1945.

Mr. Nichol is the author of many church historical, doctrinal, and devotional books. He was editor of the multi-volume Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary.

His special interest in the interrelation of religion and health and his friendship with the University, which began with a boyhood acquaintance with the institution's founders, have brought him to the campus on many occasions.

Historical Skit

Preceding Mr. Nichol's address, speech students from La Sierra College under the direction of Dr. W. Fletcher Tarr will present a dramatic historical skit titled "Birth of a University." Lasting about 26 minutes, the script was written by Oliver L. Jacques, director of university relations, and his wife Fredonia.

Faith of Our Founders

It is appropriate that we review occasionally the series of episodes leading to the birth of this medical-educational institution. We are inspired as we see how the Divine hand intervened to make possible the purchase of land for the University in 1905.

We marvel at how the pioneers acted on faith to assume a large financial debt in the land purchase and at their optimistic vision of what the school should become. While we have progressed to some points beyond the founders' fondest dreams, we have not yet realized the fullness of their vision, which encompassed schools of theology and liberal arts, in addition to the work in the healing arts.

Past today await frontiers yet untamed, citadels yet unbuilt; todays and tomorrows that will be challenging, trying, exciting, disheartening, rewarding. Thus it was in 1905. So it has ever been, and will be, to the explorer, the dreamer, the builder, the divinely discontent.

Book Talk

By George V. Summers
Director of University Libraries

Sometimes when we Americans pride ourselves on being tolerant, civilized, and law-abiding, we may well afford a moment of reflection on certain aspects of our not-too-civilized past; viz., the Salem witch trials, Puritan persecutions, and Ku Klux Klan hostilities of Reconstruction days.

A perusal of recent news media is sufficient to satisfy the average reader that Klan activities are not restricted to the long-ago. In a recent (May 7, 1965) Time article, for example, the editors, in writing about "The Old South," are quick to cite current Klan movements to propagate racist propaganda and intimidate local residents.

Perhaps William Peirce Randel is right when he says in his exposé of the Klan (The Ku Klux Klan, A Century of Infamy, Chilton Books, 1965) that, "If a white South Carolinian in 1870 had been taught since earliest childhood, as his father and grandfather had been taught before him, that 'the great Anglo-Saxon race had time-honored rights over men of races assumed to be inferior,' what could possibly happen to make him think otherwise?"

In this timely documented history of a faction in the United States, Mr. Randel has exposed lucidly a segment of society whose members believe they are personally responsible, beyond the limits of the law, for preserving white, Anglo-Saxon Protestantism in America.

He begins his story with the birth of the Klan and continues in chronological order to the present day, with numerous parenthetical insights that are anything but pleasant.

The University Church choir, directed by Patrick H. Hicks, will present an anthem titled "Almighty God of Our Fathers" by Will James. All students, faculty members, employees, and community residents are invited to attend the program.

The sixtieth anniversary celebrations will conclude with the commencement events June 4 to 6.

Earlier in the day the University will sponsor a Founders' Day Luncheon for University trustees, officers, department heads, pioneers, community officials, and alumni officers, and church leaders. Invitations have already been mailed for the event which will be held in Linda Hall at 12 noon.

Individuals who have played vital roles in the University's development will be honored at the special luncheon. Guests will see a newly released black-and-white film depicting the University's development.

Faculty Members Get Certification

Two faculty members in the department of medicine, Drs. Raymond Herber and Stewart W. Shankel, were recently certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, according to Varner J. Johns, Jr., MD, department chairman.

Dr. Herber, an assistant professor, is on leave at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri. Dr. Shankel, instructor, is on leave at Barnes and Wohl Hospital in St. Louis.

TV Driving Test Set for May 24

Millions of Americans sitting in their own living rooms will be able to test their driving judgment, knowledge, and perception Monday, May 24, from 10 to 11 p.m. when "The National Driver's Test" will be seen on the CBS television network. Loma Linda viewers may see the program on KNXT, channel 2.

University employees received a test form in pay checks on May 20. Students and other individuals interested in taking the test may obtain forms from the Shell Oil Company, which is sponsoring the program, according to Karl C. Fischer, the University's coordinator for environmental health and safety.

The CBS News hour-long special will employ an unprecedented national audience participation technique to stage the test. Results will be compared almost simultaneously against a national sampling judged by IBM computers.

The program is being produced by CBS News in cooperation with the National Safety Council and IBM. It is being presented shortly before the start of the Memorial Day weekend to make drivers more aware of the hazards of holiday driving and to help reduce the number of fatalities during the long weekend.

It was England's Minister of Transport who said, "A tiger in the tank is of little use if there is a donkey at the wheel!"

Nursing Alumni News

June 3 is the day for the School of Nursing Alumni Association Homecoming. Plan to come and enjoy seeing your classmates and friends. The class of 1940 will be celebrating its 25th anniversary and the class of 1915 its 50th. An important aspect of the Homecoming is welcoming the Class of 1965 into the Alumni Association.

The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the University dining room. For reservations write SN Alumni Association, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California or phone 796-0161, 889-3511, or 686-5432, ext. 384 or 334.

SM Class of '67 Elects Officers

Medical students in the class of 1967 recently elected officers for the 1966-67 school year.

University Photos

Howard B. Weeks, vice president for public relations and development and the University's official delegate to the convention, accepted gold medals for the photographers. Contest judges rated entries from Seventh-day Adventist church conferences and institutions throughout the United States and Canada.

Mr. Kreuzinger's winning entry, in the category of building photos, was an exterior shot of the University Church, taken on infra-red film from Central Avenue. Mr. Parrish's award, in the category depicting welfare work, was for a picture of senior nursing student Diana Berry aiding an Indian child in southern Mexico last summer.

Mr. Rich won in the category for close-ups and character studies with an extreme close-up of the face of an Indian boy, taken on the University sponsored clinical trip in Mexico. His second winner, in the special events category, was a humorous photo of senior dental hygiene student Jeannette I. Piechka smiling between rows of oversized model upper and lower teeth. The photo had been used to publicize the School of Dentistry Alumni-Student Convention.

In the remaining category, for children's activities, Florida Conference PR director Charles Beeler won with a striking photo of a Pathfinder handling a pet snake.

His progress toward complete recovery is dramatically shown this year. The earlier performance is recalled by video-tape, and he is then able to score a solid hit on a pitch by Mr. Boone.

the behavioral science department and professor of education and psychology at LSC, is no stranger to Beirut. In 1925, exactly 40 years ago, he helped start the first Seventh-day Adventist church school there. Now he will return to assist in developing initial curriculums in ministerial training, preparation of elementary and secondary school teachers, and business administration with standards of quality which support granting of the Bachelor of Arts degree, he says. A fluent speaker of Arabic and some French, he also will teach psychology courses.

Dr. Bull completed his undergraduate college work at the American University of Cairo. He also holds a master's degree from the University of Edinburgh and earned the Doctor of Philosophy degree in education at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Bull, assistant professor of English at LSC, will teach in the English department at Middle East College. She received her BA degree from Emmanuel Missionary College and holds the Master of Arts degree from Pacific Union College.

The Bulls' have three children, two of whom are graduates of Loma Linda University.
